DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's preliminary amendment filed October 8, 2007 is acknowledged and entered. Claims 1, 3-6, 9-13, 19-23, 26-32, 41 and 43 are pending and subject to the following restriction requirement.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- I. Claims 1, 3-6, 9-13, 19, 20 and 43, drawn to a method of screening for a flavivirus in a subject. Further election is required; see species election below.
- II. Claim 21 (in part), 22, 23, 26-31, and 32 (in part), drawn to a composition comprising a West Nile virus serocomplex virus envelope protein domain III polypeptide.
- III. Claim 21 (in part), 28-31, and 32 (in part), drawn to a composition comprising a tick borne encephalitis virus serocomplex virus envelope protein domain III polypeptide.
- IV-XV. Claim 32 (in part), drawn to a kit comprising an envelope protein domain III polypeptide of yellow fever virus, SLE, MVE, CEE, LI, RSSE, LGT, POW, ALK, KFD, OHF, or a combination thereof, respectively. Note that the combination must be specified, and that the combination may include any of the viruses listed in claim 32, including WNV. Each virus in the combination must be specified.

XVI. Claim 41 (in part), drawn to a kit comprising a West Nile virus domain III envelope polypeptide and a labeled secondary antibody that binds domain III.

XVII. Claim 41 (in part), drawn to a kit comprising a TBE virus domain III envelope polypeptide and a labeled secondary antibody that binds domain III.

The inventions listed as Groups I-XVII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The special technical feature linking the inventions together is a flavivirus domain III envelope polypeptide. The specification teaches that the domain III envelope polypeptide may be all or part of a flavivirus envelope antigen (see page 15, fourth paragraph, WO 2004/016586). In view of that definition, the prior art anticipates Applicant's special technical feature. Schmaljohn discloses the identification of immunocomplexes of flavivirus envelope protein with antibodies (US Patent 6,258,788, columns 11-12). Since the envelope protein contains domain III, Schmaljohn's method anticipates the special technical feature because the instantly claimed domain III polypeptide can be an envelope protein. Therefore, the claims lack unity of invention.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species in Group I:

- a) domain III polypeptide of yellow fever virus
- b) domain III polypeptide of WN virus
- c) domain III polypeptide of SLE virus

d) domain III polypeptide of MVE virus

e) domain III polypeptide of TBE virus

f) a combination of domain III polypeptides from a)-e); Applicant must elect a specific combination by specifically listing each virus in the elected combination.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there is no generic claim as all claims cite the disclosed species.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

A telephone call was made to Charles Landrum on December 4, 2008 to request an oral election to a restriction requirement similar to the one set forth above, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
